

“The Right, the Wrong and the Risky When Billing Medical in the Dental Practice”

Due to notices received by some providers from Medicare (CMS) contractors regarding claims submitted for oral Surgery, and the risk to others who have yet to be audited, Moore Martini Medical is offering this very important Lecture.

Get all of your questions answered by an healthcare attorney and forensic auditor who has conducted audits and now represents practices that have been audited. Stop Listening to friends or rumors and get the facts. Don't guess when it comes to Medical Billing in your Dental Practice

Miscoe Health Law represents healthcare providers that need legal assistance associated with post-payment audits by commercial insurance and federal health program payers such as Medicare, Medicaid, and Tri-Care. Post-payment audit defense is all they do. Each member of their firm, to include their pool of clinical, coding and statistical experts, have substantial expertise in the forensic analysis of documentation, coding, billing, and reimbursement issues that commonly arise in post-payment cases. This allows them to handle these cases efficiently and effectively.

The Qlarent and Noridian post-payment audit efforts demonstrate that while most providers know how to get paid for these services, few know how to stay paid.

This program will provide the technical and practical information you need for both while minimizing risk.
